

PATHOLOGY POSITION

Diagnostic Veterinary Pathologist

CytoPath Ltd.

Ledbury

Herefordshire, UK

www.cytopath.co.uk

CytoPath Ltd. is a veterinary diagnostic laboratory located in the picturesque historic market town of Ledbury, Herefordshire nestled between the Malvern Hills and the Cotswolds. Independently owned and run by veterinary pathologists and established for 25 years, the lab provides a diagnostic histopathology, ophthalmic pathology, cytology, haematology and microbiology service to general practitioners and specialist referral centres throughout the UK. We are proud of our good working relationship with our clients and foster regular case collaboration within the team.

We are seeking a full-time, qualified (DipACVP, DipECVP or equivalent) diagnostic veterinary histopathologist in small animal/companion animal pathology to join our existing team of three pathologists. Primary duties include evaluation and reporting of histopathology and cytology cases with a minor component of haematology work. We are very much focused on quality work and service and case load targets are not part of our mantra. We enjoy a varied caseload with a highlight of daily rounds to share interesting cases and canvass different opinions. Verbal interaction with our veterinary clinicians forms an important part of the job so this requires someone with clinical acumen, a friendly disposition and good communication skills. This position would also suit a newly qualified anatomic pathologist who can work independently but is willing to learn new skills in a fully supportive environment.

The job offers 5 weeks holiday plus bank holidays, and funded CPD. Annual MRCVS, RCVS Specialist fees and pathology college subscriptions are also paid for. The core working hours are 9am to 5pm. The applicant will also need to be available for regularly rostered Saturday work with a day off in lieu.

Pathologists all work on site. The applicant must have a veterinary degree registrable with the Royal College of Veterinary Surgeons and demonstrate a right to remain in the UK.

The closing date for applications is 31st December, 2020 or until the position is filled.

If you are interested in this position, please send a letter or email detailing your experience and curriculum vitae (CV) to both:
