

17th European Congress of Toxicologic Pathology

Digitalization meets Pathology

17th – 20th of September 2019,
Cologne, Germany

organized under the auspices of the European Society of Toxicologic Pathology

in collaboration with the European Teratology Society

www.eurotoxpath.org

Invitation

Dear Colleagues and Friends,

The European Society of Toxicologic Pathology is pleased to invite you to the 17th EUROPEAN CONGRESS OF TOXICOLOGIC PATHOLOGY which will be held in Cologne, Germany at the Maternushaus, Tuesday the 17th to Friday the 20th of September 2019. The conference will be held jointly with the European Teratology Society (ETS) and their 47th annual meeting.

The 2019 Congress topics will focus on pathology digitalization, image analysis, machine learning, and other advanced technologies.

We are currently organizing experts from around the world to deliver plenary lectures, oral presentations of original scientific work, and interactive case presentations. The opening day of the congress will include a workshop by the International Academy of Toxicologic Pathology (IATP). There will be a poster session and plenty of opportunities for formal and informal interactions with colleagues and friends plus a trade exhibition where books, new equipment, novel techniques, services of contract laboratories, and much more will be presented.

Cologne is Germany's fourth largest city, and the largest city within the Rhine-Ruhr Metropolitan Area, one of the major European metropolitan areas with more than ten million inhabitants. Cologne is located on both sides of the Rhine River. There are 2,000 years of history in Cologne, and you will find everything from Roman towers to Gothic churches to fine examples of modern architecture. The city's famous Cologne Cathedral is the seat of the Catholic Archbishop of Cologne. The University of Cologne is one of Europe's oldest and largest universities, and Cologne is a major cultural centre of the Rhineland. Cologne is easy to reach from either by plane or fast train. The congress venue Maternushaus is located directly in the city center close to Cologne central station and the Cologne Cathedral.

As usual for ESTP congresses, the social program for all participants will include a welcome reception and the congress dinner.

We will be very pleased to welcome you to Cologne,

On behalf of the ESTP

The Scientific Organizing Committee

